2027 Member Fees

APPI member renewal notices will be emailed starting on November 16, 2026. APPI and CIP member fees for 2027 can be found here Member Renewal Information. Member fees for 2027 are payable by December 31, 2026.

Dear APPI Members,

As we look ahead to 2027, the Alberta Professional Planners Institute (APPI) is pleased to share an update on member fees for the coming year.

APPI member fees will remain unchanged in 2027, and there will be no increase to the professional liability insurance premium.

This decision reflects APPI's strong financial position, supported by accumulated surpluses in recent years, and Council's commitment to maintaining stable member costs while continuing to support our members and the planning profession across Alberta, the Northwest Territories and Nunavut.

In recognition of ongoing inflationary pressures, Council has approved a one-year reprieve from APPI's policy of increasing member fees annually by at least the rate of the Consumer Price Index (CPI). This reprieve applies to 2027 only. APPI's existing policy of annual member fee increases based on the CPI will remain in effect beyond 2027.

At the national level, the Canadian Institute of Planners (CIP) will increase its member fees by 4% in 2027, for all member categories except for non-practicing members whose fees will not increase. This adjustment reflects rising operating costs and the organization's strategic priorities as it continues to support the planning profession and advance initiatives at the national level.

We recognize and appreciate your continued membership and commitment to the planning profession. Thank you for the important work you do in communities across Alberta, the Northwest Territories and Nunavut, and for being a valued part of the APPI community.

Sincerely,

APPI Council
