

PEACE RIVER REGIONAL DISTRICT

Planning Services Manager

THE ORGANIZATION: PEACE RIVER REGIONAL DISTRICT

Located east of the Rockies, the regional district is characterized by rolling hills with grain and cattle farms. About 40% of the province's Agricultural Land Reserve is situated within the regional district. The Peace River flows west-to-east through the middle of the eastern half of the regional district. West of the Rockies, the terrain is severe mountain wilderness with few roads and only a handful of inhabitants.

The Peace River Regional District (PRRD) was established in 1987 when the lands formerly included in the Peace River-Liard Regional District were divided into two regional districts. The PRRD encompasses approx. twelve million hectares (119,000 square kilometers) and serves a population of about 61,532 who reside in seven incorporated municipalities and four rural electoral areas.

Regional districts in British Columbia were established by the Provincial Government for three primary purposes:

- To act as local government for their (unincorporated) electoral areas;
- To provide the political and administrative frameworks necessary for member municipalities and electoral areas to collaborate on the provision of services; and,
- To be the regional service body responsible for providing regional services to, and undertaking key activities on behalf of, the entire region.
